THE DEAD KAISER.

The Remains Transferred to the Cathedral.

STREETS DENSELY CROWDED.

Condition of the New Emperor—Horrible, if True—Chamberlain and the Fisheries Treaty.

The Dead Emperor.

BERLIN, March 11.—The members of the ministry left by a special train at 3.15 this afternoon to meet Emperor Frederick, as he returns from San Remo. The special train conveying the royal party arrived at Munich this morning, and their majesties met with a sympathetic reception at the station. The dowager Empress Augusta last night received Prince Bismarck, who had previously passed some time by the side of the deceased monarch. After an interview, Bismarck visited Prince William. Another requiem service was held to-day, attended by a large number of distinguished mourners. It has now been decided to remove the remains of the Emperor to the cathedral to-night, where they will be in state from noon to-morrow. The public will be admitted.

St. Petersburg papers agree in expressing the wish that Emperor Frederick continue the friendly policy of the deceased monarch toward Russia. The Official Messenger and Jaroslavsk publish articles with mourning borders, paying warm tributes to the memory of Emperor William. The whole army, by special order of the czar, will wear mourning for four weeks, and regiments of which the dead Emperor was honorary colonel, for five weeks. On the day of the funeral the whole army will wear full mourning and the use of bugle will be prohibited. Kaluga regiment will continue to bear that name. Its vacant honorary colonelcy has been conferred upon Emperor Frederick, who has also been appointed titular commander of the St. Petersburg regiment of grenadiers. Professor Hartman, assisted by Doctors Von Lauer, Leitpold and Thiemann conducted a post mortem examination of the Emperor's body. They found a calculus the size of a pigeon's egg which must have caused intense pain.

BERLIN, March 12.—2 a.m.—The remains of the Emperor have been transferred to the cathedral. The coffin was carried on the shoulders of eight soldiers of the honor guard through the vestibule of the palace, where it was handed to a number of non-commissioned officers. The streets were lined with double rows of soldiers, every tenth man holding a torch. The funeral procession was headed by a squadron of cuirassiers. These were followed by detachments of the foot guards and a numerous train of servants of the imperial household. Then came the coffin. The Crown Prince and other princes followed on foot, and the cortege closed with a detachment of cavalry. The throng on the streets was dense.

CHARLOTTESBURG, March 11.—The imperial train arrived here at 11.30, having been delayed by a severe snow storm. The Emperor and Empress were greeted by the Crown Prince and his wife and Prince Henry Saxe Meiningen. The Emperor and Empress immediately alighted from the train and proceeded through the nation, profusely decorated with flowers, to their carriage. They were driven direct to the castle along a route densely crowded with people, who manifested much enthusiasm. The royal princes with Prince Bismarck continued their journey.

BERLIN, March 11.—Prince Bismarck and all the ministers met the imperial train at Leipzig. The approaches to the station were filled with an enormous and enthusiastic crowd. When Prince Bismarck entered the saloon to greet the royal party, the Emperor stepped quickly toward him and repeatedly embraced him. It was noticed that the Emperor stood quite erect with the Empress by his side. The Empress also greeted the chancellor most warmly. The ministers were then presented, after which the Emperor appeared at the window of the carriage and bowed to the assembled multitude, who greeted him with the greatest enthusiasm.

BERLIN, March 12.—The late Emperor's will has been opened. It directed that his body be interred in a field uniform, with a gray military cloak over his shoulders, and a field cap on his head. Upon the body are to be placed the decorations of the order of the black eagle and the iron cross, of the second class, the cross of the Russian order of St. George, and the war medals of 1814, 1864, 1865 and 1870, and the Hohenzollern medal of 1849.

BERLIN, March 12.—The coffin containing the remains of the late Emperor is covered with purple velvet, with gold ornaments. On each side of the catafalque are three large candelabras, with lighted tapers. Tabourettes, covered with white silk, worked in gold, are placed alongside the coffin. The body is clad in the uniform of the First Regiment of Guards, under a gray cloak. Under the decorations on the breast are the Star of the Black Eagle and the Order Pour le Merite. The Grand Cross of the Iron Cross is suspended from the neck and a laurel wreath is placed at the feet. Emperor Frederick passed a fairly good night last night. His condition appears satisfactory. His upright bearing in walking from the train which conveyed him from San Remo to his carriage last night, is remarked as proof that the report that he had suffered a relapse in strength is groundless. It is stated that the Emperor Frederick's physicians were opposed to his coming to his father's deathbed.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Dawes presented a memorial of leading wool manufacturers and growers, asking legislation to protect the wool interest. A petition was presented against the re-negotiation of the duty on lumber and salt.

A bill was reported favorably authorizing the appointment and retirement of Arthur Pleasanton as a major of cavalry.

Evarts introduced a bill, which provides for the settlement of the debt of the Central Pacific Railroad—the Huntington bill.

The motion to refer the President's message was taken up, and Colquhoun addressed the Senate. "The message," he said, "had made a profound impression at home and abroad, and had received the hearty endorsement of wise and judicious men everywhere." He predicted the triumphant election of Cleveland.

Dolph addressed the Senate on the same subject. He would use the surplus, as far as necessary, in the improvement of the rivers and harbors, in the construction of coast defense, and in the continued liquidation of the public debt. He declared the measure proposed by the committee on ways and means threatened with destruction every leading industry on the Pacific Coast.

After an executive session, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Under the call of States, a large number of bills and resolutions were introduced and referred. Among them the following:

Providing for the settlement of the debt of the Central Pacific Railway Company—the Huntington bill.

Relating to tariff and internal taxation—the Randall bill.

Providing for a commission to investigate the trusts and for the removal of the protective tariff on all industries belonging to the trusts.

A joint resolution was passed for investigating the practicability of constructing reservoirs for the storage of waters in the arid regions of the United States.

Bayne, of Pennsylvania, rising to a question of privilege, offered a preamble and resolution, reciting that it was stated that the majority of the committee on ways and means not only refused oral hearings to producers, manufacturers and workmen, but had denied to them the right to have their petitions read, and directing the committee on rules to make a thorough inquiry into the matter.

Breckenridge, of Kentucky, raised a point of order against the resolution that it was not privileged, and the Speaker pro tem sustained the point.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the District of Columbia business, and soon after adjourned.

Horrible, if True.

ST. LOUIS, March 12.—A report says that startling developments have been brought to light at Coal Hill, one of the mining towns where the mines are worked by convict labor, near Fort Smith, Arkansas. A negro convict, by the name of Williams, was hanged to death, and further inquiry developed the fact that Moses Harvey, a white man 35 years of age, had been hanged to death by a fellow-convict, who had been egged on to the desperate deed by Warden Grafford, and it was learned that he was in the habit of making prisoners fight. The body of Mark Elder was examined, and bruises and gashes on the body indicated a violent death. It was also developed that a prisoner, by the name of Hummel, was tied up to a post in the mines, last summer, and beaten to death. As the investigation continues, horrible details are revealed, and the citizens of Coal Hill are excited, and threaten to hang Grafford and tear down the prison barracks.

The Rawson Mess.

CHICAGO, March 12.—The case against Mrs. Rawson, charging her with complicity in the shooting of her husband, Banker Rawson, by her stepson, was not pressed to-day, on motion of the district attorney. Mrs. Rawson was indignant that she was not given a trial. Dot Lee, Mrs. Rawson's 12-year-old daughter, by her second husband, sued Banker Rawson, this afternoon, for $50,000 damages, for alleged slander. Slander charged in is Rawson's answer to his wife's suit for a separate maintenance. He stated that Mrs. Rawson had, in 1875, "pretended to be joined in marriage with Lee." There were many similar expressions in Rawson's answer, which she claimed were not material to the divorce proceedings and were inserted with malicious intent. By their implication, that Miss Dot was illegitimate, she claims to have been damaged $50,000, which the court is asked to compel the millionaire banker to pay.

Chamberlain and the Fisheries Treaty.

LONDON, March 12.—In an interview, Chamberlain, referring to the fisheries treaty, said: "The Republican Senate might not be willing to allow the present Democratic government to get the credit of framing the successful treaty, but I do not believe the Senate will take the immense responsibility of rejecting the treaty." He anticipated, as with the extradition treaty, that the Senate would postpone the fisheries treaty until after the Presidential election. He did not doubt, however, even if the treaty should be rejected, that the settlement now arrived at would be the settlement ultimately selected.

The Dethroned Bruiser.

LONDON, March 12.—During breakfast at Creil, yesterday, it is reported that Sullivan expressed himself as being too old to enter the ring and said that he would confine himself to sparring exhibitions and glove contests.

The Sporting Life says: "We never saw a man fight fairer than Sullivan did; even when he was intentionally sick, he only asked Mitchell to be more careful. He has, we must admit, fallen from his high estate, but his dethronement made a man of him."

The "See Woman" Dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—A dispatch received here to-day says: Mrs. Ellen Tupper, known as "The See Woman," and one of the foremost entomologists of the world, died suddenly this morning at El Paso, Texas, where she was visiting her daughter. She was widely known in the east and throughout Europe.
